WORLD SPACE WEEK 24

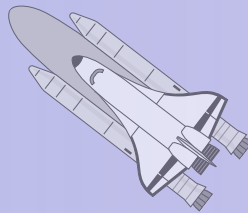

“When you look at the stars and galaxy, you feel that you are not just from any particular piece of land, but from the solar system.”

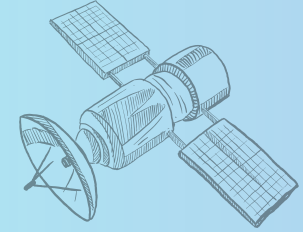

A theme that encapsulates the essence and goals for the upcoming World Space Week (WSW), celebrated globally from October 4-10.

World Space Week 2024 is set to educate, inspire and connect the global community, focusing on the powerful alliance between space technology and climate science. This significant week of space celebration will highlight the critical role of satellites and space technology.

Join the Journey: Celebrate World Space Week

Each student can play an important part in enhancing collective understanding of the crucial role that space technology plays. Let's unite to make WSW 2024 a landmark event in our ongoing journey towards a sustainable and informed future.
